Bulbs and Plants are packaged separately, and sometimes will be delivered several weeks apart because they do not mature at the same time and are transplanted at widely differing periods.

EARLY ORDERS

As orders are filled in rotation, the earlier orders receive our first attention. Some of the newer varieties are in limited supply and may be sold out as the season advances. It pays you and will help us give best service when you place your order early.

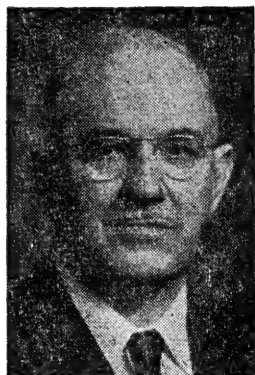

We Do Not Dig Flowering Plants

Like most Iris growers and plant specialists we only dig and deliver plants during their dormant or resting period. Usually, we start digging about one month after the blooming period, weather permitting.

What is a Rhizome ?

A rhizome is not a root, but a sort of fleshy stem or root-stock that develops at ground level and sends roots down into the soil and grows an upright fan of leaves at one end.

Rhizomes vary in size, depending some on parentage and other growth factors. Size of a rhizome is no guarantee of outstanding stamina or ability to grow into a satisfactory plant. Hardiness is most important and we believe the plants we offer have proved their hardiness and "growability" by maturing in our strenuous Ohio climate.

C. D. Evans

Your continued interest and patronage is appreciated. Thanks to every one of you. There seems to be an ever growing interest in home gardening everywhere. So many new homes built in recent years; the daylight saving program with longer evenings to spend in our yards; these and other factors combine to produce a growing awareness of all types of garden and landscape material.

We welcome the questions of those struggling with all kinds of garden problems and am eager to assist and exchange ideas which may help make gardening more pleasureable.

At the back part of this catalog you will find a listing of some of the easier-to-grow hardy plant material. Groupings from this selective list may be effectively combined with Iris and Daffodils to provide a most satisfactory parade of bloom from April through August and into September.

These plants are grown for us by leading Lake County Nurseries and have been selected for their dependable performance in this area.

GARDEN LOCATION

Our gardens are located in the center of Mayfield Village on Wilson Mills Road, about 15 miles from Cleveland's Public Square. From there follow U. S. Route 322 (Mayfield Road) to State Route 91 (SOM Center Road). Go north about 1¼ miles to Wilson Mills Road, then east about 200 feet.

The Garden mail address is 6690 Wilson Mills Road, Gates Mills, Ohio. There is no Post Office in Mayfield Village.

During season of bloom Mr. Evans will be at the gardens every week day from 1:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. and on Sundays from 2:30 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. At other times his schedule will be daily, except Sundays, from 1:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M. His home and business phone is REdwood 1-2335 and is listed in the Cleveland phone book. Mr. Evans lives in Euclid, some 10 miles away, but will be pleased to meet you at your convenience if you will phone him.

COME AND SEE

You and your friends are most cordially invited to visit our display gardens at any time, and particularly at blooming season. The Miniture Dwarf Iris usually start to bloom during the last week of April, and are followed by the different Medians in early May, with Tall Bearded last of May and on until about June 20th. The Spurias (Butterfly Iris) usually bloom along with the Tall Bearded and the Japanese (Iris Kaempferi) carry on into early July.

You have to see these flowers in bloom to gain a full appreciation of their beauty and loveliness.

Massed Color Produces Stunning Effects. You can paint lovely pictures with Iris and at a cost to suit your pocketbook. The beauty and color contrast of established Iris plants in full bloom is amazing. Once planted, they will grow and increase in your garden, becoming more gorgeous each season. For best results — mass your color planting groups of one variety together.

Whatever you wish to develop — a simple perennial border, or a complete landscaping of the home grounds, — prepare a plan. Arrange your material as you expect it to appear when full grown. Do not crowd. Your plants need room to breathe. Figure on groups of three or six rhizomes of each variety spaced eight to twelve inches apart and arranged in the form of triangles, and be sure they all point in the same direction. In this way you avoid open spaces in your color pattern and each group becomes a unit of design.

By the second year you should have abundant color in each unit. Mix your colors well and be sure to have plenty of cream, yellow, pink and light blends to warm up your picture. Now add a few white, blue, red and brown for desirable contrasts and there you have it. Always remember, the ratio of the lighter colors should be about three to one of the darker shades for pleasing results.

YOUR BEST BUYS

POPULARITY POLL REPEATERS

These Iris must be good to qualify in one annual symposium. They have to be better than most to be selected year after year. Amigo, Great Lakes, Sable and Wabash placed in the first poll (1940) and have appeared in every poll since then. These polls or symposiums were started by the American Iris Society in 1940. Each year some 5000 members of the "Society" are asked to list their favorite twenty-five Iris. A tabulation of these votes reveals the 100 most popular for that year.

AWARDS. Every one of these fine Iris has received an award from the American Iris Society based on their judges' reports.

DYKES MEDAL (DM) is the highest award and only one award may be made each year.

AWARD OF MERIT (AM) only twelve are made each year.

HONORABLE MENTION (HM) There is no limit on the number of these awards except that an Iris must receive votes from at least twelve judges to qualify.

The varieties listed with an asterisk * before the name have appeared in at least four polls since 1953 and includes several of the newer varieties.

Those listed without the asterisk are the veterans that have appeared in seven or more polls since 1940.

Miniature Dwarf Bearded Iris

These little aristocrats bloom with the earliest spring flowers. They may be used in the front of a perennial border or in the rock garden. Try three plant grouping of five or six varieties in a special bed by themselves. Raise the bed four or five inches for good drainage. By proper spacing you should have room for a few geraniums to provide color the rest of the summer. AWARDS. Both the American Iris Society and the Dwarf Iris Society make awards based on their judges reports.

Median Bearded Irises

Recent attempts of the American Iris Society to organize and clarify the classification of Bearded Irises have produced new titles that seem to be generally acceptable. While it may take some time for the sorting of some of the older iris into these new divisions we shall try to make our lists reflect the latest thinking. The three divisions of "Median" are:

Standard Dwarf Bearded, height range 10" to 15"

Intermediate, height range 15" to 28"
Border, includes shorter Tall Bearded under 28"

Some Median Iris will rebloom in the fall in this area. They require good summer culture, some added moisture in very dry seasons, etc. Those that have rebloomed for us are marked (RE).

Hybridizers please note: Known diploids are indicated by an asterisk * before the name.

These Iris were introduced in the years from 1921 to 1944. You will find many beautiful Iris including several that are still qualifying for the Popularity Poll each year. Some hybridizers have found some of these older Iris are valuable for back-crossing to recover characteristics lost during their breeding program. Dutch Iris Bulbs

Dutch Iris are excellent garden subjects and may be grown in this area with just a little attention to essential details. The soil should be ordinary garden soil in a well drained location. Plant the bulbs about four inches deep about the same time you usually plant tulips. A light mulch may be applied as cold weather sets in, then remove the mulch in April. They should bloom with the tall bearded Iris. Fertilize soon after blooming. Dig and store as soon as the foliage dies down. Replant again in the fall.

Dutch Iris are most desirable for use in flower arrangements where their long lasting blossoms and crisp color contrasts lend a sparkle and lift.

Delivery will be in September. No allowances, all prices are NET.

Daffodils

There are hundreds of named varieties of daffodils and many of the finest are grown by Jan de Graaff at his Oregon Bulb Farms. We have chosen ten that will provide considerable contrast in size, coloring and form. Mr. de Graaff requires that orders (Wholesale) reach him before July 1st so he may plan the pooling of shipments to reach this area early in September. We believe these Oregon bulbs to be far superior to the ordinary imports generally offered and know you will be pleased. We should have your order for bulbs before June 20. Delivery will be in September just in time for planting.
